Institute Social Responsibility Cell

The institute is dedicated to inspiring and empowering students to actively engage in social initiatives that benefit society. To facilitate this mission, the institute has set up the Utkarsh-ISRC (Institute Social Responsibility Club), providing a platform for students to collaborate and drive meaningful change in their communities. Through various initiatives and projects, Utkarsh-ISRC encourages students to take an active role in addressing social challenges and making a positive impact on society.

Individual Social Responsibility or Personal Social Responsibility (PSR) is a value that has been lost in a society that sanctions the acquisition of material wealth at any cost. One can easily blame it on the "fast pace" and "rat-race" of life, but what we choose to overlook is that the people are the ones responsible for setting trends in society, and we are those people.
